

October 2, 2023

Fielding International Celebrates 20 Years of Excellence in School Design and Educational Consulting

Minneapolis, Minnesota – Fielding International, a global leader in school design and educational consulting, is happy to celebrate its 20th anniversary. Over the past two decades, the company, headquartered at 3453 Hennepin Avenue South in Minneapolis, Minnesota, has set the gold standard in architectural excellence, impacting more than 50 countries with its distinctive, learner-centric approach.

With the foresight to redefine educational environments, Fielding International has consistently crafted spaces that prioritize student agency, well-being, and rich learning experiences. Their interdisciplinary approach stands as a testament to their commitment to holistic, forward-thinking designs.

Recognizing the evolving needs of global education, Fielding International expanded its repertoire beyond just architecture. Their comprehensive educational consulting and learning design services ensure that schools around the globe not only possess future-ready learning environments but also the strategies and tools required to achieve unparalleled academic success.

For over two decades, Fielding International has been at the forefront of understanding and crafting student-centered spaces. “Our unique process involves deeply connecting with diverse client communities to truly grasp their educational needs and aspirations,” shared Randy Fielding, Founding Partner, “It’s more than just design for us; it’s about empowering the next generation of learners and educators through spaces that resonate.”

Beyond their extensive portfolio, the company’s unwavering commitment to sharing expertise led to the birth of SchoolPatterns.com, a platform offering comprehensive access to design patterns for creative learning environments.

Further solidifying its ethos, Fielding International’s recent B Corporation™ certification underlines its dedication to societal, environmental, and ethical imperatives. As a B Corp, the firm stands alongside a global community of businesses dedicated to enacting tangible, positive change.

With a team of 26 employees spread across studios in Minnesota, Michigan, Rhode Island, Washington DC, and a presence in Singapore, Fielding International’s vision for the future is brighter than ever. As they stride into the next phase, they are poised to further innovate, setting new benchmarks in educational design and consultancy.

Learn more and explore at Fieldingintl.com and SchoolPatterns.com

About Fielding International

Fielding International (a Certified B Corporation™) is a global leader in the planning and design of educational facilities. For the past 20 years, we have provided consulting services to many international and private schools; public school districts; local, regional, and national governments, and other educational clients in over 50 countries on six continents. We partner with school organizations to plan and design learning spaces and experiences that promote student agency, enrich social and emotional well-being, and cultivate authentic learning. We have a commitment to reimagining the future of education alongside the communities we serve. Learn more about Fielding International fieldingintl.com

Fielding International Contacts:

Randy Fielding, Founding Partner, randy@fieldingintl.com 612.735.1221

Sarah Stalter, Marketing Director, sarah@fieldingintl.com 734.355.8334